The Cleveland Orchestra Music Study Groups

Classes meet at six convenient locations and explore music from the Orchestra's current concert season through informal lectures and listening.

Instructor

Lecturer Rose Breckenridge, who earned her Ph.D. in music, leads all Music Study Group classes.

Volunteer Sighted-Guides

Two Music Study Groups have volunteer sighted-guides for Cleveland Sight Center clients:

- Cleveland Heights-University Heights Public Library
- Fairview Park Branch of Cuyahoga County Public Library

You may also choose to attend another Music Study Group location (see reverse); however, only these two locations have sighted-guides.

Special Materials for Persons with Vision Loss

The Cleveland Sight Center supports services for their clients in Music Study Groups. These include special curriculum materials for persons with vision loss. You will receive your materials with an exact class schedule at your first class.

For more information on these special services, please contact Jeri Rask at Cleveland Sight Center Recreation at (216) 791-8118.

Friday Matinee Concert Tickets

The Cleveland Orchestra Alice Cull Fund provides a free matinee concert ticket for each Music Study Group member with vision loss and their volunteer sighted-guide for the concert.

Reduced Registration Fee for Cleveland Sight Center Clients

The Cleveland Sight Center supports a reduced registration fee for its clients and their drivers (up to $40 in savings).

For more information, contact The Cleveland Orchestra Department of Education & Community Programs at (216) 231-7353 or visit clevelandorchestra.com.
